Class Of 1972

Spirited — an adjective which aptly describes the personality of the class of 1972. Their eagerness to become an integral part of Agawam High School is reflected by their involvement in school activities. With the election of class officers and student council members, the freshmen, under Mr. Bagetta's guidance, launched a four-year career which promises to be both busy and successful. In order to stimulate more interest in freshmen football games, the class provided transportation both to-and-from games. To establish themselves financially, the class of '72 not only collected dues but also sponsored a bake sale and a concession at the Winter Carnival. Truly indicative of the mod era was their "psychedelic dance." Effective lighting coupled with the electrifying music of the Sharper Edge of Dull set the mood for an exciting evening. After an eventful first year, the freshmen can look forward to a promising tenure at Agawam High.

“Poetry Happening”

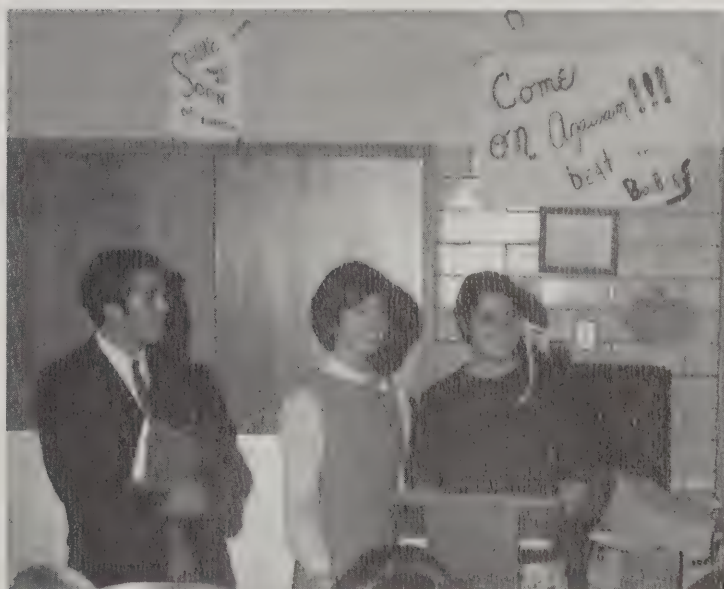

“The First Folio”

Inspiration — self-expression — creativity — imagination — the motivating forces behind “The First Folio”. Under the guidance of Mrs. Mary Sypek, students interested in creative writing are encouraged to submit original essays, poems, and short stories for publication. All work on the magazine, from typing and printing to assembling and distributing, is done entirely by members of the club. A highlight of this year’s activities was “The Poetry Happening” at which students presented samples of their poetry. Mr. Stentafor read poems reminiscent of his recent trip to Scotland. Although a relatively new organization, “The First Folio” has proven to be a popular innovation among the student body.

O'Brien pops through the line from fullback as Tech looks on.

In the open, Macey strains to reach the ball held stationary in the air.

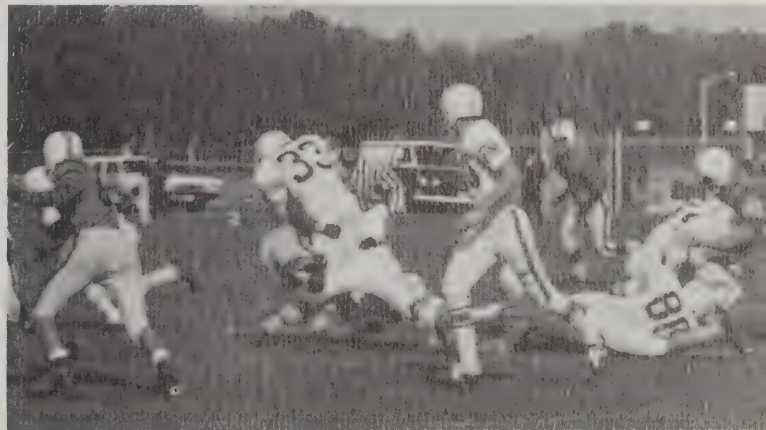

Despite the snow, Co-Captains Piccin, Vella, Goodwin, and Shea listen attentively to Coach Kibbe's instructions.

Time And Injuries Plagued The Brownies

The Brownies experienced a disappointing 1968 season with a record of two wins and six losses. The first three games saw the Agawam men faced with stiff competition from Cathedral, Greenfield, and Chicopee. Heading into the last quarter of each game, the winner was impossible to predict; but, luck and time were on the side of our opponents. Although the drive and desire to win were strong, injuries also plagued the team and inhibited its early success.

The come-back after such a depressing start proved difficult; but, working as a team and practicing diligently turned the tide. The Brownies were finally rewarded for their efforts when they defeated Westfield and their arch-rival West Springfield. The impressive victory over West Side saw Agawam retire the second Elks trophy with 6 consecutive wins. Standouts this season included juniors Nick Madamas, Scott Macey, and Mike O'Brien as well as seniors Mike Piccin, Hank Drewnowski, Steve Grimaldi, and Ken Goodwin. Returning to serve as the nucleus of next year's team will be lettermen Macey, Madamas, O'Brien, Don Young, Don Progulski, Bob Morin, Mike Losito, and Dave LeGrand. Mr. Kibbe's reaction to the upcoming season: "Better! Better be better!"

After a formidable gain, O'Brien drives up the middle to be stopped by a lone defender.

Macey leaps high to intercept pass from hands of awaiting Tech receiver.

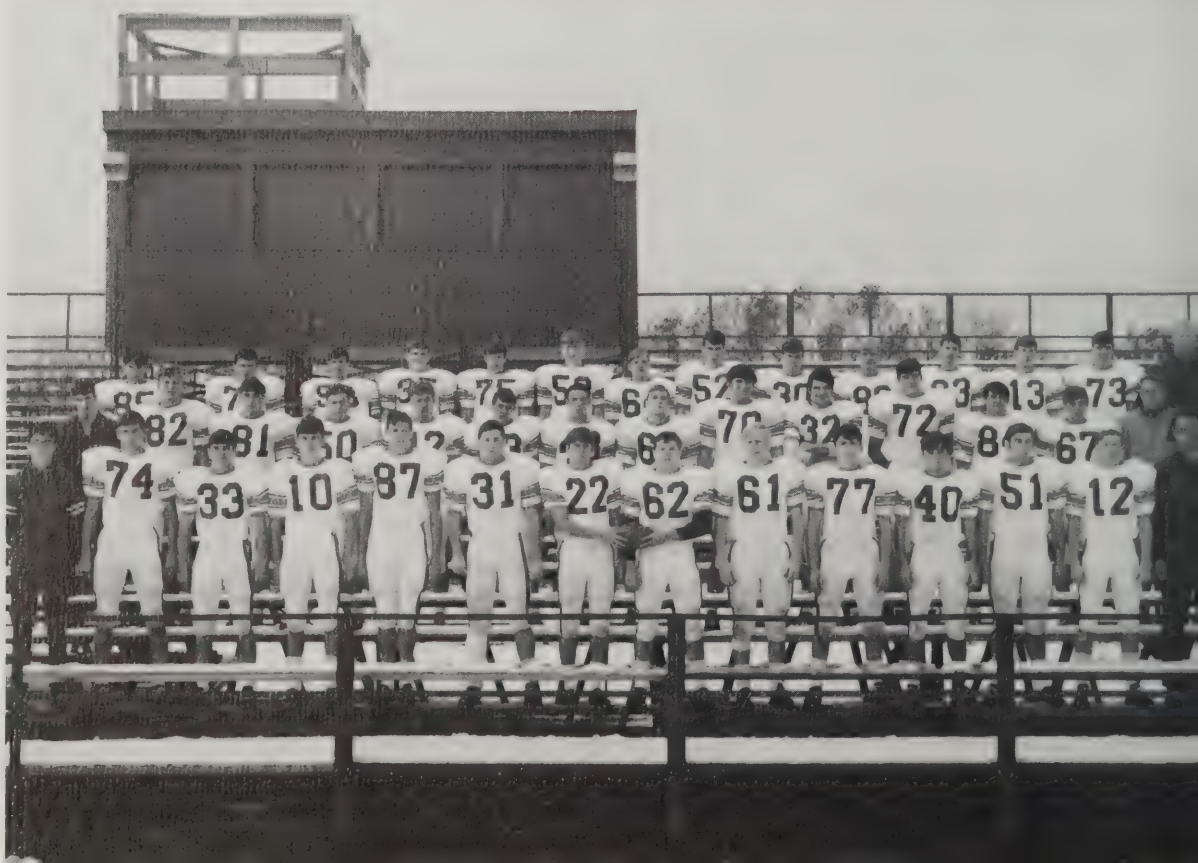

To show their appreciation for the cheerleaders assistance, the team presents corsages to them.

"Ladies First"

Personality Club

A successful Sadie Hawkins Dance set the tone for the activities of this year's Personality Club. A rustic setting for the event created the "Li'l Abner" atmosphere appropriate for the evening. Other activities included in this year's agenda were a Christmas Party and a surprise "going away" party for the club's supervisor, Mrs. Margo Poulin. With the assistance of club officers Cindy Johnson — president, Gale Sullivan — vice-president, and Linda Higgins — secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Poulin directed informal discussions to assist the club members in their social development.

Agawam's "Wits" Retire Undefeated

Behind by fifteen points in their most important encounter, the "As Schools Match Wits" team successfully captured their fourth victory and retired undefeated in the first round of competition. Agawam's squad routed teams from Easthampton, East Catholic of Connecticut, Gateway Regional, and East Longmeadow. Team members Brian Blackburn, Richard Cimma, Michael Connolly, and William Walsh devoted many hours during and after school in preparation for questions ranging from music and art to sports and current events. Because quick recall of facts is the essence of the competition, Mrs. Libiszewski and Mr. Stocker drilled our "wits" to improve their abilities to provide rapid-fire answers. A chance to excel academically is not the only benefit derived from serving on the "As Schools Match Wits" team. The team member is also given the opportunity to experience competition under pressure.

"Determination Overcomes Inexperience"

Victory to most first year teams is an impossible goal. While soccer is not a new sport to Western Massachusetts, Agawam made her debut in amazing fashion. Led by Mr. Williard and Mr. White, the squad completed a record of 5-5 against experienced competition. Desire played a key role in this fine performance, for only a desire such as this team displayed could make up for a lack of experience. Six determined seniors gave stability on and off the field. Bob Quinn, Mark Holden, and co-captain Mike DiDonato played key roles at halfback, while Al Wright and Jimmy Brown held down the wings, and Vic Beauvais played a strong fullback. With the return of many fine underclassmen, future teams will have a good nucleus. Bobby Brown, Tom Davilli, Steve Atwater, and Don Wheeler joined co-captain George Mickey as all-around stars.

A good defense was the trademark of this team, with Beauvais and Larry Webster continually turning in good performances. While lack of experience led to a low goal production, Tom Case and Steve Atwater staunchly defended the nets against their opponents. "Next year will be a year to rebuild again," says Mr. White. He hopes for a fair showing in a strong Pioneer Valley League. As indicated by this year's performance, Agawam's soccer team will certainly pose a threat to the league's best.

Bright Colors — Exciting Sounds

Band

The electrifying strains of exciting marching rhythms never fail to heighten the enthusiasm of A. H. S. football fans. Whether performing in a concert or marching in their brightly-colored uniforms, the A. H. S. band is truly representative of our school spirit. Under the direction of Mr. Darcy Davis, this year's concert band contributed to the success of the 1969 operetta "How to Succeed." The band also presented a concert at the Eastern States Exposition and held exchange concerts with Cathedral and Womoga Regional High School in Litchfield, Connecticut. Assisting Mr. Davis in the organization and planning of these activities were officers John Scherpa — president, Donna Atwater — vice-president, Norma Massa — secretary, and Alan Edwards — treasurer. Singled out as an outstanding performer was Donald Cabra, who was selected to participate in the Western Mass. District Band Concert.

Gregouli — Outstanding

Characteristic of its short 4-year history, Agawam's Cross Country team once more enjoyed a winning season. Although new to A.H.S., Coach David Beaver successfully guided his harriers to a 4-3 record. At the helm of the '68-69 team was Captain Paul Gregouli, who more than fulfilled former Coach Drabek's predictions. Gregouli's efforts insured Agawam a first place finish in most of its meets. Other Seniors who contributed greatly to the team's fine record were Henry Waniewski, Paul Martin, Charles Parker, Stu Wilson, Tom Gilbert, Al Leporati, and Don Lederer. Anticipating the '69-70 season, Coach Beaver feels optimistic and is counting heavily on fine performances from Mike Simonds and Don Smith, this year's outstanding underclassmen.

A fast start gives the lead to Agawam's runners.

Charles Parker takes the lead in the open stretch.

Paul Martin strains to maintain the pace.

Charlie races through a wooded section of the cross country trail.

Henry Waniewski leads into the "lone stretch."

Henry leads his teammates toward the finish line.

Class Of 1971

Innovation — the spirit which motivates Mr. Pulaski's sophomores. The class of '71 began its yearly activities with a new idea for the collection of dues. As an effective catalyst to promote payment, a homeroom competition was held. Also breaking with the traditional practice, the sophomores sponsored a sock dance held in the gym. Three food sales were held to augment the sophomore treasury. To close out the year's agenda the sophomores ordered their class rings, symbols of their coming upperclassmen status.

Creative Artistry

With a penchant for capturing moments and giving them permanence on film, the Camera Club members range from the slightly experienced to the quite skilled. This year the club, along with its advisor Mr. David Pulaski, stressed the more creative aspects of photography. These students of photography learn about the art, and are introduced at the same time to its many channels of self-expression. The photographer learns best by experience which is acquired during the club's annual field trip. Taken in the spring, the trip offered students the opportunity to practice outdoor photography by capturing scenic shots and experimenting with color and light. National competitions add excitement and challenge to the studies of the Camera Club members.

F.T.A. Gains Insight And Experience

For the many students interested in a career in education, the Future Teachers of America offers an opportunity to become better acquainted with the teaching profession. Following the suggestion of club advisor Mrs. Nowak, various members of the F.T.A. prepared mock lessons which they "taught" to the other members, who acted the parts of elementary school students. The club members also observed a classroom situation from the teacher's point of view when they visited the elementary and junior high schools this winter. To gain further insight, the F.T.A. invited the administration and faculty to an informal coffee hour and discussion period. To round out the year's activities the club made a trip to the experimental elementary school at the University of Massachusetts where members observed an innovative curriculum.

A Season To Build

In its second year, the Agawam High School Ski Team under the direction of Mr. Joseph Zabielski experienced a building season. Losses early in the season resulted from bindings releasing, gates appearing, and ice forming in the strangest places. Seniors on the team included co-captains John Scherpa and Steve Meister and first year-man Bob Waniewski. Racers who returned from the previous season numbered Wayne La Riviere, Gary Toczko, Jim and Paul Houlihan. Bob Meister, Greg Toczko, and Dan Cavalco proved to be valuable new members to the squad.

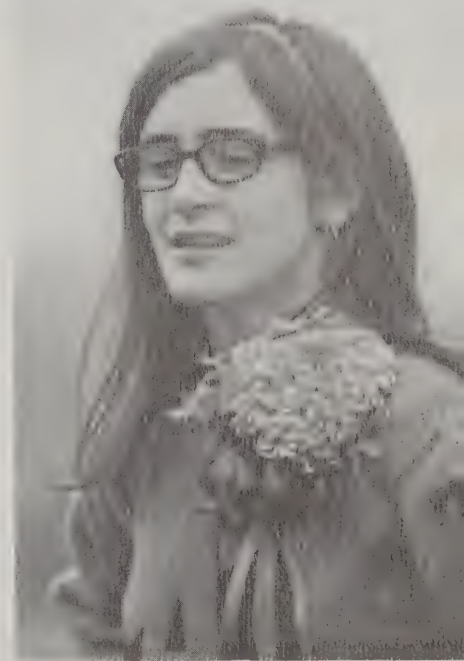

The team raced in the Valley against such schools as Holyoke, Westfield and Amherst. After four losses, the Agawam boys came through with their first victory over Holyoke Catholic early in February. Although ski racing as a varsity sport is young, success seems assured in the future as the team gains strength and experience.

Spirit Boosters*

Cultural Awareness

Interest in the theater as well as contemporary literature motivates the members of the Literary Club. This year the club attended productions of The Sea Gull and The Millionaires. They also took part in a joint meeting with the faculty Reading Club to discuss Death at An Early Age. Under Mrs. Mackler's guidance, the Literary Club has gained a deeper appreciation of contemporary culture.

Members look on as Nancy Osolinski examines a new literary work.

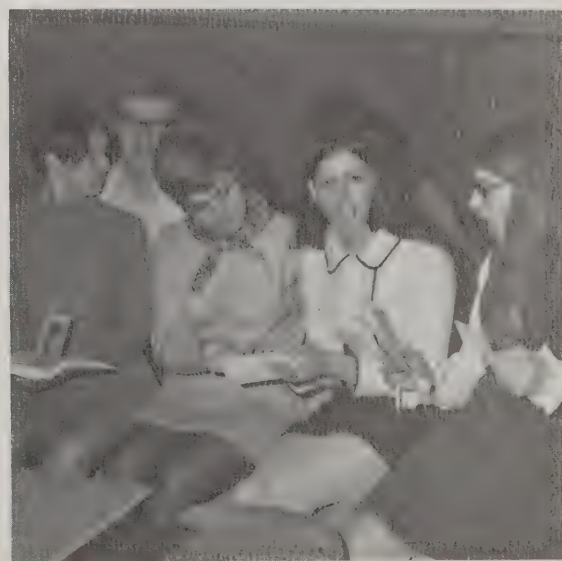

Service First

A desire to serve as well as to learn attracts students interested in a nursing career to the Future Nurses Club. As a Thanksgiving project, the club members donated favors to many children who spent the holiday as hospital patients. Under the supervision of the club's advisor, Mrs. Catherine Hallaman, the members attended a conference in November at the Hartford Hospital where speakers, a movie, and a tour of the school familiarized the members with the many aspects of nursing. The many activities provided for the future nurses will certainly provide them with a valuable background.

Mirror — an appropriate title for Agawam's newspaper, as it is a visual and literary image of the school. This year the Mirror staff's organization, under Miss Bonkowski, was somewhat different. It provided for two associate editors, Cindy Johnson and Joanne Coupas, to work under editor-in-chief Cindy Milici. In this way a more efficient publication was achieved. The work of the Mirror staff involves many things: securing ads, conducting interviews, and tracking down news stories, among many others. An added feature in this year's paper was a student review of plays presented at "Stage West." Part of the work was accomplished during the regular journalism classes. However, much more work had to be done after school and involved a great deal of dedication on the part of the staff members.

Fund-raising activities included cupcake sales, a stationery sale, and a movie which was shown for the children in the town. The money from these activities was used toward financing the publication, the voice of the school.

Politics And Art?

Richard Nixon, Barry Goldwater, Eugene McCarthy, Ted Kennedy, and numerous other political figures all contributed to the success of the 1969 Art Club. Because of their co-operation, the club was able to sponsor an auction of political memorabilia at the height of the presidential campaign. Money received from this unique fund-raising scheme helped to underwrite the expense of a New York trip to visit various cultural centers.

Members of the Art Club, under the supervision of Miss Geraldine Schilling, are given the opportunity to observe and practice many art techniques in a variety of media. Not only is self-expression encouraged, but Miss Schilling's artists also offer their services in the preparation of backdrops and scenery for the school's productions. Indicative of the contemporary nature of the group was the psychedelic backdrop created for the "Faculty Frolics". Assisting in the direction of the Art Club this year were Susan Parchick, pres., Bill Barker, vice pres., Alexander Loss, treas., and Sherry Sausville, sect.

Ascutney Weekend Highlight

SKI CLUB

The thrill and adventure of skiing make membership in the Ski Club an exciting experience. Besides several trips to Mt. Tom, the club highlighted its activities with a weekend stay at the Sugarbrook Lodge at Mt. Ascutney. The 60 Ski Club members find that not only does the club provide them with an opportunity to improve their skill but also to meet with others who share their interest. Under the direction of club advisor Mr. Whalley and officers John Clifford, Jim Valenti, Sandi Magnani, and Sue Piccin, the members of the Ski Club have had a busy and enjoyable year.

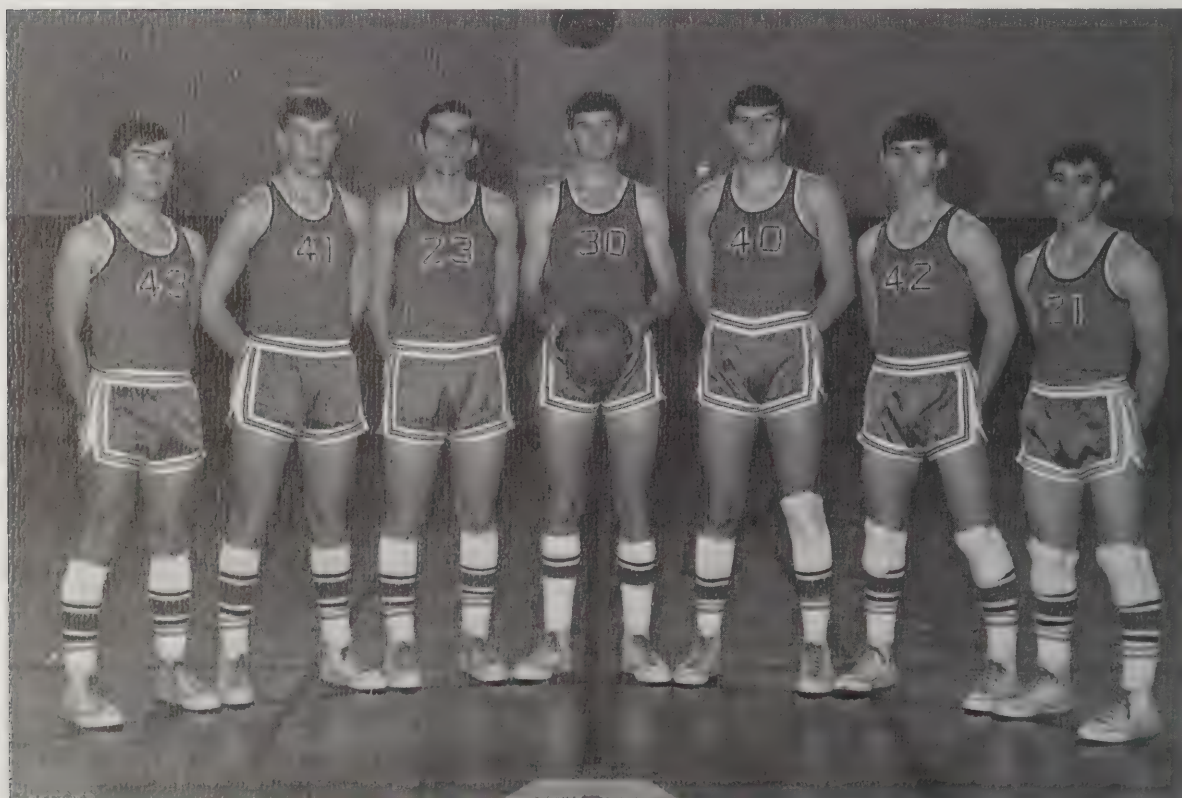

Strength In Unity

The Basketball team's performance was the highpoint in this year's winter sports program as the Brownies posted an outstanding 14-4 record in regular season action. We were proud not only of the success that this team achieved, but of the total dedication that they displayed in each and every game. Together they formed a cohesive unit that few teams ever achieve. Indeed, they were a team in every sense of the word. This they owe to their coach, Mr. Cliff Kibbe.

Seniors were ever present to add guidance and stability to the squad. Bob Quinn, Nick Madamis, and Al Wright all performed well in every situation. A sense of leadership is needed by any team, and the Brownies looked to senior co-captains Dan Ferris and Bill Clampit for that quality. Ferris and Clampit combined high scoring and dedication to give their team the inspiration needed for victory.

Many outstanding underclassmen aided the cause. Co-captain Roy Wright, despite an injury, returned to the line-up and performed extremely well. Lenny Caron proved to be a top rebounder and Barry Cleary continuously displayed the great ball handling and scoring ability that he possesses. Pete Ronchi and Chip Kistner consistently turned in fine performances. A nucleus for fine teams of the future is assured by the presence of Bob Morin, Don Taddia, Ben Cheslawski, and John Cheslawski.

Rebounding and defense were strong points, along with the total dedication that they displayed. A lack of continuous scoring and depth were areas that needed improvement. But perhaps that sense of dedication outweighed any weakness. The team played together to lead Agawam into a tournament berth for the third time in four years. Perhaps Mr. Kibbe put it best when he said, "To be successful, you must hang together like a bunch of grapes, or you hang as individuals."

On The International Scene

In order to familiarize the club members with the government, customs, and education of people around the world, the International Relations Club presents speakers of all nationalities. In today's world where everyone is striving for international understanding and brotherhood, high school students are becoming more aware, and the IRC is the channel by which they can learn of the ideas and beliefs of people of all nations. The highlight of the year was a speaker from Israel, who discussed the Middle East crisis. Leading the club's events throughout the year were Mr. Dudek, advisor, and officers Jo-Ann Della-Giustina, president, Kathy Keefe and Ann Burgamaster, vice-presidents, Diane Knowlton, secretary, and Scott Skolnick, treasurer.

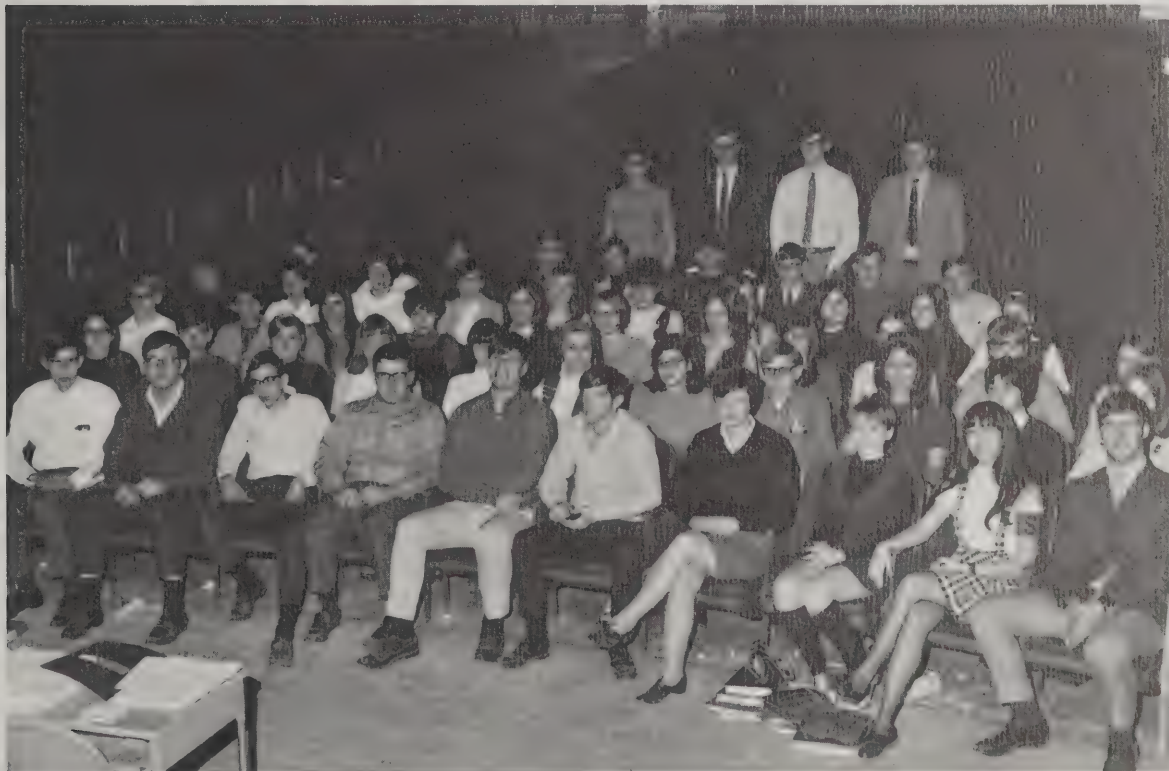

Academic Achievement Honored

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

To be a member of the Eleanor H. Smith Chapter of the National Honor Society is a credit to any student and is certainly an honor well deserved. In order to be eligible, a junior or senior must have an accumulative average of 85 percent in all major subjects and be a responsible school citizen. Led by Richard Cimma, president, Robert Waniewski, vice-president, Kristine Raschi, secretary, and Alan Edwards, treasurer, the society strived to motivate student interest in scholarship, to cultivate leadership, and to instill responsibility. The formal recognition of members took place at an assembly when students received their pins followed by a tea in the library. With the help of advisor, Mr. Walter Willard, this organization was one of the most outstanding in the school.

Slow Start Makes The Difference

A successful beginning for any sports team unquestionably creates a positive psychological outlook. Unfortunately, the 1968-69 hockey team began its season with losses to a powerful Longmeadow team and division leader East Longmeadow. Guided by Coach Ralph Merullo, the spirited Brownies displayed fine team efforts, but in both games could not overcome a 2 goal deficit. As the season progressed, the team made a brief comeback with decisive victories over Holyoke and Palmer. This success was carried through to the end as the Brownies achieved an overall 8-6 record.

Standouts during the year were Tom Branchini, one of the division's leading scorers, goalie Mike Drewnowski, center Tony Barbato, defensemen Jeff Prystupa and Mike Losito as well as Ernie Malone and Mike O'Brien. Also making important contributions were Ken Stawasz, Hank Drewnowski, Glenn Gould, Steve Kamyk, Mark Sullivan, Don Wheeler, and Bill Sapelli. Because of the experience gained by this young team, Coach Merullo predicts success for future squads.

JUNIOR CLASS

Able — the successful ventures of the class of 1970 have merited them this distinction. Indicative of this quality was their initiation of the policy of ordering class rings in the spring of the sophomore year. Sporting the symbols of their upperclass status, the juniors began a successful year by winning the decorations competition at the West Side rally. The introduction of a program to sponsor a concession at home basketball games proved to be a profitable venture. The majority of their time and energy was spent in planning the Junior-Senior Prom "Camelot". Chairman Bob Eldridge along with Betty Kozikowski and Brenda Boldebrook organized the evening's events. Miss Strobelberger's supervision of class officers Scott Macey, Bruce Cohen, Delora Argiro, and Jean Cressotti has paved the way for a smooth transition from juniors to seniors.

"How To Succeed"

Following an extremely successful production of "South Pacific", the 1969 Drama Club produced another Broadway hit, "How to Succeed". The demanding lead roles were played by club president Denise Hawkins and vice president Bill Barker. Both are accomplished actors as they have appeared in the previous operettas.

To help eliminate stage fright and develop stage presence, each member this year presented a skit which was analyzed by the remainder of the club. This innovation proved quite beneficial, particularly for those who have had little stage experience. Acting was not the only emphasis of the group as the members also were instructed in the technical and directing aspects of play production.

The Best Yet

Victory was almost a habit for the 1968 track team as they romped to a phenomenal 12-0 Valley Wheel record copping that league's coveted championship. Mr. Edward Stentaforde coached possibly the strongest team in Agawam history. With great enthusiasm, he predicts that the 1969 squad will be even stronger.

If this year's squad is to successfully defend its title, strong performances must be turned in by captains Brian Blackburn, Dave Gates, Paul Greguoli, Steve Grimaldi, and Bob Waniewski. Experience is on the side of the team as many seniors will be returning. Andy Arnold will lead the hurdlers, while Paul Martin, Charlie Parker, and Stuart Wilson run in the distance events. Gordon MacPherson, John Gormley, and Jim Valenti are slated to compete in the discus while Mark Andrews will run the 440. Steve Pond will be back at the shotput and Billy Edwards will lead the sprinters. Outstanding performances are expected from underclassmen Mike Simmonds, Rick Brandoli, Chip Shearer, and Don Smith. It is obvious that this team has the talent to produce, but it also possesses one other important ingredient: the will to win.

Books, Books, Books

The library staff is an efficient group of students dedicated to making the facilities of the library available to both students and teachers. Staff members gain experience in dealing with people and the workings of a library. Book fairs, held in the fall and spring, give the students an opportunity to increase their private libraries and the profits from the sales enable the staff to purchase more paperback books for the school. Under the supervision of Mrs. Dorothy Holmes, the library staff held a Valentine's Day Open House for teachers and the administrations of various schools.

“Lights, Camera, Action”

Indispensible to the success of the annual operetta is the direction given to the lighting crew by members of the AVA Club. The members also provide audio-visual aid to various classes, take care of all equipment, and run movies for the benefit of students. Under the direction of Mr. Roland Pressey and Mr. John Burns, the service offered by this organization has proven invaluable to the teacher in the classroom as well as to the entire school.

Practical Experience

The objective of the Business Club is to give students in the commercial area the opportunity for practical application of business principles. Their goal is achieved as members participate in the Student Store, direct the school banking, and plan field trips to various business concerns. Supervised by Mr. Gerald Smith, the success of this organization is evidenced by the active involvement of its members.

The Flavor Of Foreign Cultures

Spanish and French Clubs

A common interest in foreign languages unites the members of the Spanish and French Clubs to augment their understanding. Speakers who have visited Spanish and French-speaking nations provided the members with additional background concerning the culture of these countries. Under the direction of the club's advisor, Miss Ida Moggio, the members of the Spanish Club became more familiar with the dances and music of Spain. The highlights of the club's activities was the Christmas Fiesta, which featured authentic Spanish food and the breaking of a piñata made by members of the club. Mrs. Strasberg's French Club made the giving of Christmas gifts to the patients of Monson State Hospital the focal-point of their pre-Christmas meetings. A spring banquet of French food closed out the agenda of the French Club.

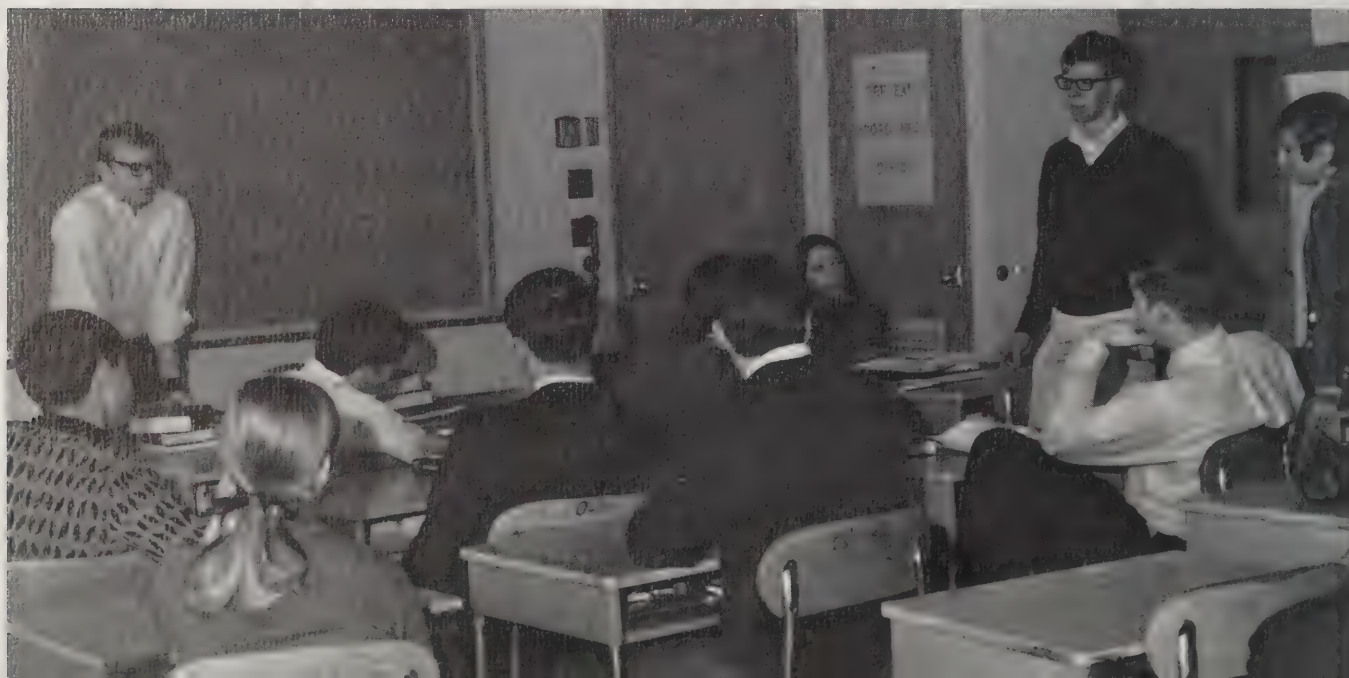

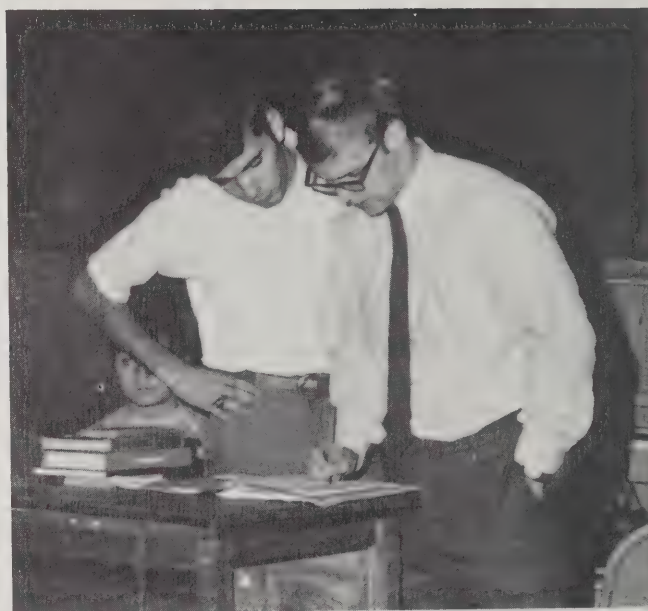

The Girls' Gym Club supplements the regular gym classes through its after school meetings. On those occasions, interested girls are given the opportunity to develop their skills on the various types of apparatus. Not only does the club improve their coordination but it also gives the girls a sense of responsibility and poise. The major activity undertaken by this organization is their participation in the annual gymnastics show. Their training is directed by Mrs. Alice Wydra and Miss Dorothy Hastings.

Blackburn Leads A Concerned Council

The objectives of the Student Council are to promote the best interests of the school, to establish new and maintain old traditions, and to secure better communication between the student body and the faculty. This year the Student Council, under the leadership of Mr. Gerald Griffen and Brian Blackburn, has played an important role in the functioning of the school. By attending School Committee meetings and sponsoring a Student-Faculty Committee, the Council has attempted to deal with some of the problems of the school. Not only was the Council active in academics, but it also undertook social functions. Monthly dances were held and a winter carnival program was initiated.

The Council's interests extend beyond A.H.S. as members participated in regional and state conventions. Agawam's influence on the state level was emphasized this year by the selection of George Bickford as president of MASC.

Student Patrol

A student patrol member can be found at any time during the school day invariably occupied with the duties which his position entails. In a dedicated effort to maintain order, members render assistance in the cafeteria, in the corridors, and at all assemblies of the student body. Under the supervision of advisor Mr. Zavarella and captain Henry Meade, the Student Patrol has proven to be both a positive influence and a credit to the student body at Agawam High.

Speed Plus Accuracy Equals Success

For those students who are mathematically inclined the Math League provides an excellent opportunity to exercise skills in challenging competition. Twenty high schools vie for the individual school trophy in a stimulating contest of problem solving. The team's members are directed by chairman Fred Kulas and advisor Mr. John Burns in their efforts to gain the championship with its reward of a $50 savings bond. As an adjunct to their study of computer analysis, the league had the opportunity to visit the Hartford Bank and Trust Co. and view their facilities.

“Check Mate”

Silence, yet a flurry of activity, characterizes the atmosphere of the Chess Club meetings. Once a week the twenty members of Mr. Stentaford's Chess Club meet for tournaments which challenge their ability as well as perfect their game. Not only does the club sponsor student tournaments, but it also sponsors tournaments between students and faculty members. Although inter-school matches were not held this year, the club plans to compete against rival school clubs next year.

Susan Brown Selected For All Eastern Chorus

Susan Brown's selection to participate in the All-Eastern Chorus as well as District Chorus highlighted the busy schedule of the 1969 Chorale. Other Chorale members distinguished by their selection to District Chorus were Len Caron, Neil Titcomb, Karen Kozlowski, Ann Burgamaster, David Neill, and Laura Wylie. Besides participating in the Spring and Western Massachusetts Music Festivals, the Chorale was an integral part of the operetta; its members formed the stage chorus. With the assistance of chorale officers Susan Brown, Carol Heyl, Kathy Ryer, and Dennis Biagetti, Mrs. Wuesthoff arranged for the Burlington, Vermont, chorale to hold an exchange concert in Agawam. The exchange proved to be a pleasurable way to end a very active year.

Championship Within Reach

Off to a good start, the 1968 Golf Team had the Valley League Championship within its grasp; however, a depressing late-season slump cost the fairway flashers their goal. Despite the disappointment, the team proudly boasted an overall record of 14 wins and 4 losses. Coaches Harmon Smith and Roger LeClerc are hoping that the experience factor of the 1969 team will prove to be the necessary ingredient to produce a championship team this year.

Expectations are high as five of the key varsity positions will be held by returning seniors Ken Stawasz, Tom Branchini, Ray Rossi, Mike Di Donato, and Jim Brown. Vying for the sixth spot will be seniors Alan Wright and Mike Fazio as well as juniors Mike Sticca and Bob Brown. The combination of talent and determination characteristic of this squad should insure another successful season.

Victory Hinges Upon Youth

1968 was a year of frustration for the tennis team as they compiled an 11-9 record under Coach Rudy Altobelli. The frustration lay not in the record itself but in the number of close defeats suffered by the team. Mr. Altobelli predicts that 1969 will bring improvement in many areas.

Leading the squad this year will be Captain Steve Meister, one of the two seniors returning from last season; Louis Bonavita joins Meister in that capacity. Many fine underclassmen give the team good returning strength. Jim Houlihan, a junior, could prove to be the most promising player on the squad. Mike Stefanik, Paul Houlihan, Tom Wyatt, and Joe Russo all have earned their letters and should form a strong nucleus for this and future seasons. Should the youth come through, the 1969 season should be a great one.

Dedication, Service, Versatility

Versatility is probably the best adjective to describe Agawam's Athletic Director Mr. Harmon A. Smith. Known throughout the Northeast as a true sportsman, Mr. Smith has coached in a variety of areas. His tenure at Agawam has witnessed many championship teams from football and basketball to golf and tennis. Undoubtedly one of the highlights of his career was the successful 1951 football team which played in the Peanut Bowl in Columbus, Georgia.

His talents, however, are not limited to the playing field. Mr. Smith has shown himself to be an accomplished pianist as well as a man with a quick wit. Serving as master of ceremonies for numerous social functions, he has delighted audiences with his subtle but penetrating remarks. In the role of Athletic Director, Mr. Smith's administrative acumen has been quite evident. Not only has he initiated new programs, but he has also maintained a strong and successful athletic department.

Because of his devotion and singular contribution to the welfare of Agawam High School, the Class of 1969 dedicates the Sachem in his honor.

Seniors

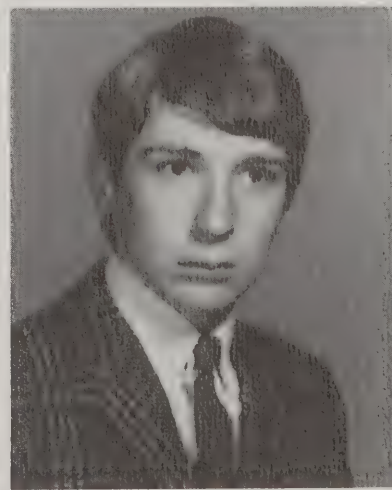

As graduation nears, the dual nature of the senior becomes obvious: he is a man of the past and of the future. He clings longingly to the memories of his four years and yet anxiously, almost impatiently, reaches out for what lies ahead. He is at once at two places in time: the end and the beginning.

As The Class Of 1969 Took Its First Steps

The ominous note sounded by that bleak November evening of the massive power failure was not a barometer of the events of 1965-1966. Instead, scientific progress, the promotion of civil liberties, and the launching of the "Great Society" highlighted the initial phase of the class of 69's tenure at Agawam High School.

As the Gemini astronauts executed the first walk in space, the class took its first step in the establishment of its identity by the election of class officers: Harry Camyre, Thomas Henry, Ellie Harrington, and Paul Martin. In the spring, the enthusiasm resulting from the long-running Broadway performances "How to Succeed" and "Funny Girl" infected the Agawam thespians as they produced "Music Man." Inaugurating their acting careers in major roles were William Barker, Robert Allard, and Thomas Henry.

The deaths of such prominent figures as Malcolm X, Winston Churchill, and Albert Schweitzer, as well as the civil rights march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama, made the freshmen aware of the political and social obligations demanded of their generation.

Shortly after school opened in the fall of 1966, the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers in four straight games to capture the World Series title. That same season, the Agawam football team successfully defended its first place position in the A.A. Conference for the third year by winning its 26th consecutive game.

1966 was a year marked by many unique accomplishments. Indira Gandhi was selected the first woman prime minister of India, Lurleen Wallace became the first woman governor in the U.S., and Edward Brooke was elected the first Negro senator. Keeping in line with these innovations, the Student Council sponsored a Battle of the Bands and the sophomores produced two class plays. For their performances in these productions, Michaelene Dalton received the best actress award while William Barker and Nancy Osolinski were runners-up. Class activities that year were led by Paul Martin, George Bickford, Eleanor Harrington, and Cynthia Johnson.

As the 1966-67 school year came to a close, James Meredith led the civil rights march across Mississippi, and the Sophomore Class eagerly looked forward to finally becoming upperclassmen.

A Year Of Firsts

Strobe lights and flashing colors set the psychedelic atmosphere indicative of the hippie movement for the Junior Class dance "Incense and Peppermints". In contrast to this electric setting was the serene and romantic atmosphere of the junior-senior prom "Rhapsody in Blue". A highlight of the enchanting evening was the crowning of queen Linda Edwards, who reigned over the night's events.

For the first time the class of '69 became more aware of the political scene by taking an active interest in the presidential campaign. Practical experience in the functioning of government was gained by Donna Ashton, who attended Girls' State, as well as George Bickford and John Scherpa, who attended Boys' State.

Among the firsts of 1968 were successful heart transplants, lunar orbiting, and Killy's three gold medals in the Olympics. Agawam's junior class could also boast firsts of its own: three members on the "As Schools Match Wits" team, George Huba's early acceptance at Lafayette College, as well as official status as upperclassmen. The year was also one of anxiety and anticipation as many juniors competed in the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test and made plans for the future by taking college board exams.

The sober note sounded by the assassinations of two prominent political figures reminded the Juniors of their future responsibilities. Graduation, too, made them aware of the proximity of their own entrance into a complex world situation. Graduation was not only a portent of things to come; it also proved to be a very rewarding experience, particularly for junior marshalls Julie Alvigini and Henry Meade.

A Year For Change

The changing scene characteristic of the 60's saw full expression as the Class of 69 entered its senior year. As revolution hit college campuses, the election scene, and Czechoslovakia, as well as in the theater and arts, Agawam's student body changed its passive nature and became actively involved in the school scene. Led by the initiative of Brian Blackburn, the Student Council organized a student-faculty committee to investigate important issues and organized a winter carnival weekend. Seniors also demonstrated political concern as the presidential election approached and made their interest known in the school committee selection. George Bickford's position as president of the Massachusetts Association of Student Councils and Michael Connolly's participation as Governor's Day representative accented the involvement of the Class of 69 in the field of politics.

There were new breakthroughs on the Vietnam front as extended talks were carried on in Paris and also on the football field as the AFL showed its mettle by upsetting the favored NFL power for the first time. Athletics played an important role in Agawam High School as well. The basketball team distinguished our school by obtaining a berth in the Western Mass. tournament.

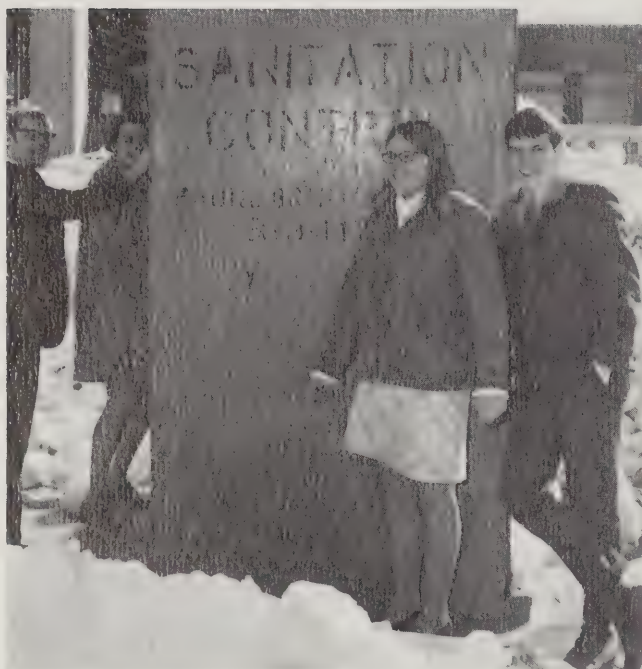

The overwhelming success of the "As Schools Match Wits" team, as evidenced by their victory in the championship round, and the distinction Brian Blackburn and Richard Cimma attained through their NMSQT finalist status were representative of the educational goals of our school. In addition to the strictly educational function of Agawam High School, its extra-curricular nature was revealed through many outside activities. While operetta leads Denise Hawkins and Bill Barker, as well as hundreds of others, were involved in rehearsals for "How to Succeed", our first Winter Carnival proved to be a success, with the senior class capturing first prize in the snow sculpture contest.

Modern transportation facilities were exploited both here and in England when an epidemic of Cuban plane hijackings occurred and our friends, The Beatles, created "Yellow Submarine."

Our senior year was a time of launching into new directions for many people. A farewell party was given for Mr. Fassnacht on his leaving for a new position at East Longmeadow, and a number of students were accepted at various colleges across the country. And, graduation marked the end of high school careers for members of the Class of 1969 and the beginning of a search for self-fulfillment by each.

A Time To Go Forth

We attempted, in this book, to capture the seasonal moods of the activity, the work, the fun and the experiences of the past year. Our change of character from unburdened underclassmen to mature graduates preparing for the responsibilities of life was an enormous transformation to undergo in a year's time.

The 1969 Sachem Staff sincerely thanks the following people for their assistance: Mr. Donald Lendry, American Yearbook Representative; Mr. Edward Carlson, Loring Studios; Mr. David Pulaski and Mr. Blynn, photographers; and especially Mr. Robert Peters, advisor.
